

Background / BIO:

Alan Buckwalter, Managing Principal of Jeftic Consulting, LLC - A Small Business IT Consulting firm.

Jeftic Consulting provides IT consulting services and custom technology solutions for Small Businesses. With over 30 years of business and technology experience, we are uniquely qualified to work with you and understand your company goals, develop and execute a strategy that delivers the results you want in a cost efficient manner. Solutions include Windows (Small Business) Server, Exchange E-mail, remote access, mobile computing, office collaboration and much more. Where appropriate, off-premise hosted solutions are available, reducing the need for onsite office computing equipment. We want you to get the most value from technology and work smarter, not harder, improve efficiency, and increase revenue and profit for your small business. Think of us as your Small Business CIO

Alan M Buckwalter, the founder - has experience as a Member of Technical Staff at ATT Bell Labs, a world class research and technology company; a Quantitative / Financial Strategist at Goldman Sachs, a leading financial services firm; and as a Managing Director of a global team of over 100 people responsible for Global Equity Derivatives Technology and Equities Risk Technology at Bank of America, a world class financial institution. This makes Jeftic Consulting uniquely experienced and knowledgeable in cutting edge technologies, and how to best apply them to solving real world business problems.

Jeftic Consulting is a Microsoft Partner, a Microsoft Certified Professional (MCP) and a Microsoft Small Business Specialist.
